County Told To Hold Line On Budgets

Cranston Says S.M. Average Not High

State Controller Alan Cranston said Friday in Sacramento that he doesn't think the Board of Equalization will order a reduction in San Mateo County's assessment ratio.

He was replying to a resolution from the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, asking the state board to determine whether or not the new San Mateo ratio is in line with the statewide average and — if higher than that average—to order a reduction.

Cranston, a member of the state board, said the preliminary state ratios will be computed this week.

He said he does not anticipate that the San Mateo assessment ratio "will be so far above the average to require action from us."

Cranston said the state board has not taken and will not take any action which would result in property tax increases in the county.

The way to keep taxes from rising in the face of increased assessed values, Cranston suggested, is to hold the line on local budgets and reduce the tax rates.

"If the Board of Equalization were to order a reduction in your assessed valuations," Cranston wrote to the supervisors, "you would have to raise your tax rates to meet your revenue needs."

In essence, Cranston said that it is up to local officials to decide whether or not residents of the county will have to pay higher property taxes.

"The many technicalities surrounding evaluations and tax rates tend to obsure the simple truth that the key to taxes is

Civic Center Bids Exceed D.C. Estimate by $450,000

By DON MILLER

A recent round of wage increases in the construction industry—both those in fact and those considered a possibility—have pushed the cost of Daly City's civic center project up about $450,000.

This figure is the difference between an architect's estimate of the project cost and the lowest of five bids announced Monday at a special meeting of the City Council.

The apparent low bidder is the Guy F. Atkinson Company of 10 West Orange Avenue, South San Francisco. The bid was $2,.74,503.

Donald F. Haines, architect for the center, had estimated the cost at $1,716,329.

Councilman Edward Dennis noted that since Haines had made his cost estimate, the construction industry has gone through a series of wage talks, resulting in a number of strikes that have led to contracts calling for wage increases.

Mayor Francis Pacelli pointed out that at the time the bids were submitted, wage talks were going on with four construction unions.

The council referred the bids to City Manager Edward Frank and his departments for study.

A recommendation on the bids will be presented to the council at its meeting next Monday. Award of a contract is expected to be made at that time.

Second lowest bidder on the project was the M & K Corporation of San Francisco at $2,191,000 and the third lowest

C.S.M. Cuts Rate; Taxes To Increase

Taxpayers in the San Mateo Junior College District will receive a tax rate reduction of only slightly more than four and one-half cents this year, it was indicated by the District Board of Trustees last week.

In view of an increase of 35 per cent in assessed valuation, the decrease actually will result in an increase in the tax bite on the taxpayer, trustees were told.

However, it was pointed out by College President Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, it was this same assessment increase by the county that will result in a loss of some $740,000 in state apportionment funds to the district, requiring the college to hold up the tax rate to compensate for the loss.

Bortolazzo did hold out a shred of hope for taxpayers.

There is a possibility, he said, that the State Board of Equalization might reduce the new assessments. A review of the assessment situation was requested by the County Board of Su-

MORE POSSIBLE

Bayshore School District to Cut Tax Rate by 34c

A reduction of 34 cents in the tax rate was proposed last week by trustees of the Bayshore School District.

The district previously had been considering cutting the rate 19 cents but an unexpectedly high re-assessment of property in the district has made the 34 cent figure possible, according to District Supt. Natalie Lipman.

She said that in addition to the 34 cents, another 10 cents may be lopped off the rate if appraisal of utility company property in the district also shows a sharp increase.

This property is assessed by the state. At present, the figure is around $3-million. The new figure is expected to be known August 1.

In the countywide re-assessment of property this year, the total assessed valuation in Bayshore jumped more than 40 per cent.

The preliminary roll for 1965-66 is $7,232,420. Last year, the figure was $5,133,300.

In April, trustees adopted a tentative budget that would have resulted in a tax rate four cents below the 1964-65 rate of $2.43 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The district boosted this reduction after County Assessor Ralph Woodman undertook his program of property re-appraisal.

The toal outlay budged remains at $421,000, compared to $397,108 for last year.

Automatic salary increases and the cost of capital improvements account for the higher budget.

In other action last week, trustees re-elected Fred King chairman of the board and Garnet

JUHS Okays 4% Pay Hike For Employes

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District last week approved a 4 per cent wage increase for teachers and non-teaching personnel.

The 4 per cent had been requested by the Jefferson High School District Teachers' Association.

In addition to the salary boost, trustees also approved an increase of $2 in the monthly contribution the district makes toward the cost of health insurance. The new contribution per employee will be $10.

For teachers, the board approved an additional wage increase of $100 per year for those who have tenure.

For non-teaching personnel, the board approved a reclassification of job duties that trustees said will be more comparable with those in neighboring school districts.

At a meeting Monday night, District Supt. Edward Morgan will present the final version of the district's tentative budget for 1965-66.

At present, the budget calls

Watershed Use to Be Expanded

(Editorial, Page 10)

John O'Marie, chief of the Peninsula Division of the San Francisco Water Department announced last week immediate and long-range plans for public use of the San Mateo County watershed under controlled permit conditions.

First step is the current construction of additional trails which will serve a wide range of users from senior citizens to school children.

Simultaneously, further projection of the development of the old Skyline Quarry into a science center is under way.

And for a third major step, O'Marie announced a 1,000-foot walk-in model of the entire San Francisco water system, extending from its source point at Mt. Lyell in Yosemite to the Golden

Pacifica and County Agree On Devil's Slide Rescues

The Pacifica City Council last week approved a resolution authorizing an agreement with San Mateo County to provide rescue service by the city at Devil's Slide.

The resolution provides a basis for reimbursement for the service to the city. Since the county has no means to perform rescues in this area, the city fire department has been doing the work.

The council awarded a contract to Fisk, Firenze and McLean, Inc., San Carlos, for paving work to be done on Ocean Boulevard, Bayview Place, Carmel Avenue and Juanita Ave-

D.C. Man Drowns in Rescue Try

The Coast Guard at Los Angeles has reported that a Daly City man died last week while trying to help a boating companion who had become entangled in seaweed in waters near Middle Ground, Coronado Island, Mexico.

The victim, Albert San Martino, 38, of 38 San Juan Avenue, was assisting Raul Dalmay of Foster Park last Wednesday.

The Coast Guard said San Martino either drowned or suffered a heart attack.

His body was taken by helicopter to San Diego. Dalmay, rescued by boat, suffered shock. The tragedy occurred off the Baja California shoreline.

Laguna Picks Clark as Its Board Chief

Rodney Clark has been elected chairman of the board of trustees of the Laguna Salada School District.

A member of the board since July of 1963, he succeeds Mrs. Ruth Boudinot who had served as chairman for the past three years.

Other officers of the board named at its annual organizational meeting last week are Dale Buettgenback, chairman pro tem; Robert Hale, clerk; Charles Hauser, clerk pro tem and Hale, trustee representative.

The board was scheduled to review the district's tentative 1965-66 budget at a study session last night.

Supt. Fred Lucas said the budget shows a deficit of about $140,000.

Trustees have yet to approve a salary schedule for teachers and classified employes.

Teachers have asked for a new schedule, starting at $5,500 and reaching $12,200 while classified employes are seeking five per cent wage boost.

Lucas said that a revised assessed valuation figure for the district has been received from the county assessor's office.

It shows a total assessed valuation of $51,054,320. This compares to the $46,939,200 reported as a preliminary figure by Assessor Ralph Woodman earlier this month.

Last year, the assessed valuation in Laguna totaled $31,202,855.

As a result of the higher assessed valuation this year, Laguna Salada is expected to lose about $182,000 in state aid.

In other action at the board's meeting last week, trustees voted to oppose a new schools unification proposal that would join Laguna Salada with the South San Francisco Unified School District.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the board room of the South San Francisco district.

for a 30-cent cut in the tax rate. The 1964-65 rate was $2.60 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Morgan said this week that the budget he presents Monday will call for about the same 30-cent tax cut he proposed to trustees at a meeting last week.

A hearing on the budget will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 2, in the district's offices.

D.C. Center Bids Exceed Estimate was Pacific Coast Builders of San Francisco at $2,194,500.

Councilman Bernard Lycett noted that the three lowest bids were all within 1 per cent of each other, which, he said, "leads me to believe this is fairly realistic bidding."

Pacelli also noted the closeness of the bids when he commented: "We have to assume here that the cost factor has been pretty closely worked out."

The higher cost of the center will have no effect on the tax rate, Finance Director Joseph Arch informed councilmen.

A non-profit corporation has been formed to build the center and will float bonds to finance it.

Arch said he will study the bids and report at Monday's council meeting on whether more financing will be needed than is presently planned.

The non-profit corporation has agreements with three financial institutions to float a total of $2.5 million in bonds.

The bond issue, in addition to financing construction costs, will be used for a number of allied costs, including architects' fees, insurance and contingencies.

The center will be erected between Ninetieth and Ninety-second Streets and Edgeworth and Sullivan Avenues.

Construction is expected to take 18 months. The design has been described as neo-classic by architect Haines.

The center will bring together city departments now housed under more than one roof.

pervisors as a result of an uproar over the increase this year.

If the reduction materializes, he said, it will be necessary to have a special meeting and attempt to work out a new tax rate and budget adjustment before the budget adoption deadline of August 8.

The anticipated tax rate of 40.98 cents per $100 of assessed valuation will finance a proposed operating budget of $5,950,876, approved for publication last week by the trustees.

The budget, up $1,195,274 over last year, was scheduled for a public hearing Wednesday, August 4, at 8 p.m. in the administration building board room on the College Heights campus.

A large chunk of the increase, $250,000, will go for salary increases and increments for the teaching, classified and administrative personnel.

However, in order to provide what tax relief it could, the board dipped into undistributed reserves to the amount of $347,000 to finance the community services program on the same scale as at present.

Left untouched, however, was a $700,000 reserve fund to supplement bond monies in construction of the North and South County campuses.

A delegation of San Bruno residents, alarmed by a rumor that the reserve was to be eliminated or priority given to construction of the South campus, had its fears assuaged by the board and Bortolazzo.

"It would be a real mistake to reduce the $700,000," Bortolazzo told the board. "It would put you in the red in the building program and would necessitate a new bond issue."

nue. The firm will receive more than $55,000 for the work.

In other action, the council:

Approved an application from Shell Oil Company for an amendment to the general plan of Fairmont Planned Community to allow a service station site at the northwest corner of Hickey Boulevard and Gateway Drive.

Heard a report from the fire chief regarding prevention of fires caused by water heaters in the community.

Decided to participate in the construction of a pedestrian crossing at the intersection of Monterey Boulevard and Pacifica Freeway.

Set a joint meeting date with the drainage committee for August 12 at 8 p.m. in the council chambers.

Deferred action on an application from Herbert M. Cook to rezone 30 acres for the proposed Gypsy Hill Park project, which would contain multiple family and single family residences. The project would be built adjacent to Sharp Park Road.

Approval of the application has been recommended by the city's Planning Commission.

Bandit Is Greeted By D.C. Police

A would-be bandit ran into far more than he expected at Westlake Bowl about 11 Friday night.

When he brandished a knife at a clerk working in an upstairs office and announced "this is a robbery," the clerk, in turn, whipped out a revolver and told the man he was under arrest.

The clerk was Daly City Police Capt. David Hansen. He and two other officers waiting in an adjoining room, Lt. Richard Sims and Sgt. Philip Labruzzo, had stationed themselves at the bowling alley after receiving a tip.

The suspect, identified as Richard A. Lane, 30, of San Francisco, was charged with attempted robbery.

Hansen said Lane was wanted by San Francisco authorities on a charge of possession of stolen travelers' checks.

the budget. If local budgets stay in line with the economic growth rate, taxes will not go up.

"Assessed value and tax rates merely provide arithmetic tools for producing whatever revenue is needed to meet local government and district budgets."

San Mateo County Assessor Ralph Woodman has raised assessed valuations from 19.2 per cent to 25 per cent of market value.

"I am deeply concerned by suggestions which have appeared in some newspapers and in my mail," Cranston wrote, "that the Board of Equalization is responsible for what many taxpayers fear will be a sudden leap in taxes this year on homes, business property, and ranches and other scenic properties in the mountains."

Cranston concluded:

"I share your basic concern about the property tax itself. Our basic right to own our own homes must not be wiped out by the property tax. Nor should existing businesses be threatened or the growth of new businesses discouraged by excessive taxes.

"Equally important, I share the concern of many Peninsula residents about the future of the Skyline Boulevard area. The fate of our beautiful scenic assets should not be determined by property taxes, but by community awareness of conservation, recreation and other needs."

Bayshore to Cut Tax Rate By 34 Cents

Robertson, clerk. Jess Morales was chosen trustee representative.

The board appointed James Hall of 14 McDonald Avenue chairman of the newly formed Citizens Committee for School Improvements.

The committee will work closely with district officials in promoting a bond election, scheduled for September 28.

Trustees are calling the election to finance additional facilities, replace four classrooms considered substandard and repair some Bayshore School facilities.

Cost of the improvements is estimated at $495,000.

Bruce Johnson, architect for the district, outlined preliminary plans for the new construction. He showed how the Bayshore School auditorium would be moved to a site now occupied by the four classrooms that will be torn down.

The new classrooms will be added onto Garnet Robertson Intermediate School. Johnson said he will present the plans to the state school authorities for their approval.

The board will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. August 3. A hearing on the budget will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on the same date.

Gate area, is now in the planing stage.

It is anticipated this phase of the project will take up to three years.

The already 6,000 visitors who annually use the watershed are expected to be dramatically increased as the result of the program devised by O'Marie with the blessing of San Francisco Public Utilities General Manager James Carr, who last week toured the project site.

Of primary importance, notes O'Marie, is the fact that students from throughout San Mateo County, the Bay Area and state as a whole will be able to gain first-hand understanding of the scope, the inestimable value of the water system to this area with its burgeoning population.

Simultaneously, opening of the area will, over the years, develop a generation perceptive to the need to preserve as well as use the watershed.

Rocks will be gathered from the entire length of the water system from the Tuolumne area westward, to show the differing geologic structures in the construction of the model. A total of 30 people will be able to walk through the exhibit at one time.

And the geology of the Crystal Springs Lakes area, due to its location in the San Andreas rift valley, provides an extremely complex picture of special interest to geologists, ranging from sandstone to marble.

Geology students from throughout the state will be allowed to study the watershed formations under the O'Marie program.

But always, it is emphasized, the groups will be under the guidance of watershed personnel.

Hobbyists, such as camera club groups, will find with the opening of new trails special areas set up to provide vistas for photographs.

Of the four new trails which add to the already existing extensive system of hiking and riding trails, the longest will go up and over the top of the quarry for a distance of three to three and a half miles.

Additionally one will involve the original historic Skyline Road just north of the present Half Moon Bay Road.

Classified Salaries to Be Reviewed

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District will meet Monday night to continue consideration of the district's proposed 1965-66 budget and to discuss a new salary schedule for classified personnel.

A 44-cent cut in the tax rate is being considered by trustees. It reflects a high assessment of property in the district, resulting from the county's reappraisal program this year, district officials say.

At a meeting Monday night, trustees awarded a number of bids for furniture and equipment and then discussed classified salaries.

Concurrent with the budget discussions, a committee of educators has been interviewing candidates for the post of district superintendent, vacated by Dr. Richard Foster in June. He took a new post in Contra Costa County.

Dr. Vinton Stratton has been serving as acting superintendent since then.

posal to unify the Laguna Salada School District with the South San Francisco district. The proposal is part of a two-phase unification plan, tentatively adopted by the San Mateo County Committee on School District Organization last month.

A hearing was scheduled to be held last night at Westmoor High School on the other phase —a proposal to unify the Brisbane, Bayshore and Jefferson Elementary School Districts.

Tomorrow night's hearing is expected to draw a large outpouring of South San Francisco residents. Officials of their school district have expressed strong opposition to the unification plan.

D.C. EXCHANGE STUDENT

A Hard Summer's Work

DITCH-DIGGIN, herding cattle, mowing huge lawns and milking cows wouldn't seem like much of a vacation to most teen-agers but at least to one Westmoor High School junior, these activities are all part of an experience he'll long cherish.

The student is Ken Freiberg son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Freiberg of 30 Village Lane, and he's living with a Swedish family this summer as part of the Ambassador Program of the Experiment in International Living — a student exchange program.

To date, he has written a number of letters back home about his overseas experiences. Here is an excerpt from one of them:

KEN FREIBERG
A Busy Summer

"I AM LIVING on a large farm with about 40 cattle and hundreds of acres of wheat, barley, pototoes and hay. The Wennerstrom's (his host family) have three children, two girls, 19 and 21, and a boy, 17. There also is a 15-year-old girl staying with the family.

"They all speak perfect English. Everyone is extremely friendly and the cooking is fantastic.

"The house is three stories with seven bedrooms and two bathrooms, but no showers or baths or hot water during the summer. There is a dishwasher, a freezer, a television set and a stove that uses wood for fuel. I have my own room with closet.

"WHAT HAVE I been doing? I have been herding cattle, helping with the milkin (done by machine), ditch-digging, mowing the back lawn (40 yards by 40 yards), which takes four hours of straight work, playing badminton and watching such TV programs as Alfred Hitchcock and Laramie.

Also, I have played cards with the boy — Malte (pronounced Mahl-teh) and relatives, including grandmother who has been to the U.S. a number of times."

Fire Burns Near Homes

A grass fire burned within 60 feet of homes on Randolph Avenue in South San Francisco last week.

The fire did not pose any particular threat to the homes, Owen Johnson dispatcher at the State Divison of Forestry, said later.

Johnson said the fire in that area was not difficult to put out because the grass was short and sparse and there was no wind.

The fire, believed to have been started by children playing with matches, started at around 5:30 p.m.

SORENSON REQUEST

Jury Begins Prara Probe

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson confirmed last week that the County Grand Jury has undertaken an investigation of the alleged involvement of Sheriff's Capt. Alvin J. Prara in an $8,000,000 bookmaking ring.

After the County Board of Supervisors formally asked for a grand jury investigation, Sorenson told the members:

"The grand jury has already commenced its investigation in this matter."

Sorenson had stated previously that he would take the Prara matter to the jury at the first opportunity.

The board acted after hearing a report from Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore, who had attempted to make an investigation on his own into the allegations that his confidential aide received $300 a month for tipping a bookie about impending raids.

The sheriff reported that the man he assigned to the probe, Capt. M. U. Craik, was unable to come up with any information because federal authorities would not release any of the information upon which the federal indictment was based.

Because of this, Whitmore recommended that the County Grand Jury, which would have access to such information, make its own inquiry.

The board approved the recommendation without discussion.

Acting Chairman Edward R. McDonald asked what would happen to the federal charge if the local jury should determine that Prara is innocent.

'I'd cross that bridge when I came to it," Sorenson replied.

Whitmore also answered a question from the board about his decision to allow Prara to use up his accrued vacation time rather than go on suspension.

Welcome to Pacifica!

A.F. Cadets Pay a Visit To Pacifica

Three Air Force Academy cadets have taken time out from a summer indoctrination tour of Hamilton Air Force Base to visit Pacifica.

Cadet Staff Sergeant Kenneth Zagzebski, Cadet third class Paul LeCain and Cadet third class Dennis Flynn were the guests of First Lt. Mike Patterson of the Pacifica Civil Air Patrol.

While in Pacifica, the cadets congratulated Maj. Charles Starr CAP commander, on the second anniversary of the chartering of the Pacifica CAP Squadron 102, and met members of the city Council.

Mayor James Fox said he regretted that the city had no official Key to the City for the cadets to take back to the Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The cadets chatted with Vice Mayor Grace McCarthy who, with other civic leaders, visited the Academy last spring on an "Operation Understanding" tour.

Youngster Badly Hurt In Accident

A five-year-old Daly City youngster was badly injured shortly before noon last Wednesday when he was struck by a car at Eastmoor Avenue and Mirada Drive in Daly City.

The youngster, Matthew Amorose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Amorose of 110 Mirada, was admitted to Children's Hospital.

Hospital authorities said the child's parents had requested that no information be released on the nature of their son's injuries or his condition.

Police reported that after the accident the boy was found lying on the pavement, bleeding badly from a head injury.

The driver of the car, Lawrence Baker, 16, of 844 Beechwood Drive, Daly City, told police that the boy had darted into the path of his auto after he and started up from a stop sign at Eastmoor and Mirada.

A witness said that the boy was with two other children at the time and had dashed out into the street ahead of his companions.

4 N. County Students in SFS Drama

Four North County residents are among a group of 39 Bay Area residents participating in San Francisco State College's 12th annual drama workshop for high school students.

The students are Kathye Wolfe of 205 Los Olivos Avenue, Daly City; Sue Irby of 936 Wildwood Avenue, Colma; Sue Hurt of 71 Fairmont Drive, Daly City, and Sue Walsh of 50 Northgate Court, Daly City.

The Workshop offers training in acting, stagecraft, body movement, lighting technique, make-up, and costume construction. Faculty members are from the college's drama department.

At 8 p.m. Friday, July 30, the students will present a demonstration program they have created. The public is invited.

To conclude the summer's activities, the worship will offer a production of "Once in a Lifetime."

Art of Floral Preservation Is Exhibited

Sixteen pictures illustrating the art of flower preservation are on exhibit in the Coral Room of the Westlake branch of the Daly City Library at 275 Southgate Avenue.

The pictures are the work of Mrs. Pat Grigg of 4240 Balboa Street, in San Francisco. Under the name of Lanai, Mrs. Grigg creates pictures, Christmas Albums, and cards from dried and pressed flowers and grasses.

Mrs. Grigg said her technique with the flowers grew out of her love for art and nature. She devised the processes she uses to preserve the flowers.

She also developed the methods she uses to cover the flowers that will be fastened to cards and pictures without glass.

In creating her art, Mrs. Grigg uses flowers, leaves, grass and seeds. She is the wife of James Grigg who helps her market the pictures and cards. "My hobby" she says, "has become a business, and now I find my work is sought for art exhibits."

According to the Daly City Librarian the pictures may be seen whenever the library is open. "Our whole staff," he reports, is thrilled with the exhibit because the pictures are so unique."

The exhibit may be seen during the regualr operating hours of the Westlake library branch.

S.F. Youth Is Injured

A 14-year-old San Francisco youth suffered cuts and bruises about the head and arms last Wednesday afternoon when he was tossed from a motorbike he was operating on Ardendale Drive near Delrose Court in Daly City.

The youth, Louis A. Gaglione, was treated at Alemany Emegency Hospital in San Francisco.

Poice said Gaglione and a companion had been riding together and when the youth attempted to operate the motorbike alone, he lost control of it, and it struck a curb, throwing him from the cycle.

WE HAVE, from time to time in this column, attempted to define the difference between the good athlete and the great one.

We've found that it's pretty generally accepted that at least one of the major factors in such a determination is the ability to withstand pressure.

If you've ever played golf, we're sure you've encountered this pressure factor yourself. You drive 'em straight and long on the driving ranges, and maybe even on the course—if you're going around with friends during a slack customer period. But how many times have you flubbed your first hole drive because of a crowd waiting to get on after you?

How does one go about relieving this pressure? Self-hypnosis may be an answer, and some athletes claim to practice it. Don't scoff. Have you ever watched just a fair-to-middling fighter put up a great scrap against a fine boxer and later read about how the fair fighter didn't remember anything past the left hook in the second round?

What that fighter was doing was fighting on instinct alone, not on intellect. Only his subconscious had to react. Wiped away with the left hook was the consciousness of fear, of worry, of thinking about strategy while at the same time throwing punches and receiving them.

PLAYING SEMI-PRO baseball as a kid, this writer was once kneed in the face by a baserunner while pursuing a bunted ball. We stayed in the game and had a great day. But we still don't remember a thing about that game.

What had happened was that the pressure had been removed and with it our inhibitions about not pulling away from the ball, being afraid to charge a ball lest we make an error, etc.

This leads us to a contention previously surveyed here, that the difference between the good athlete and the great one is that the good athlete isn't as consistent. And he isn't consistent because he allows outside forces to influence him.

The great athlete, on the other hand, has learned to shut out other pressures so that he may concentrate on the game at hand. He has, in short, conditioned himself to the HABIT of performing a sort of self-hypnosis.

ALL OF WHICH leads us to an article written recently by syndicated columnist Sydney Harris, an intellecutal who has, ironically, come up with what we believe is the final answer to the difference between good and great. Harris and Publishers Newspaper Syndicate have graciously allowed us to reprint that particular column which follows in part:

"One of the questions most frequently asked me . . . is, "What do you do when you don't feel like writing a column?'

"The answer . . . is, I write a column. If I waited for the 'feeling,' my house would be foreclosed and my children out . . . on the street.

"What . . . people often do not discover . . . is that if you do something often enough you are able to do it even when you don't particularly like it.

"We speak of 'bad habits,' but rarely of 'good habits.' Does the pianist always feel like giving a concert? Does the ball player always feel like striding up to the plate?.

"These people are properly called 'professionals.' And the chief difference between an amateur and a professional is not so much talent or fame as it is ATTITUDE, based on habit.

"The main characteristic of the amateur . . . is that he participates when he 'feels like it.' He is a creature of impulse and inspiration and mood. This is why his performances are so wildly erratic, swinging from the superb one day to the miserable the next.

"The professional always exceeds the amateur not so much because of his superior skill, as much as his consistency.

"This is based on habit. . . . It is automatic and proceeds out of the unconscious. And nothing that is consciously done is as expert as that which is unconsciously done. . . .

"We know that the mind can be trained, and the body can be trained. What we forget is that the feelings can be trained as well. And unless the feelings are properly trained . . . the mind and the body will not respond . . . in consistently professional manner. . . ."

OUR SINCERE apologies to Lou Lorenz for our not having followed through on an intended full plug for his Pacifica Lions' semi-pro team. We have only our disorganized filing system to blame for it.

Lorenz, former Coast League player and now a Pacifica used car dealer, has been the leading light for the past four years in Pacifica's efforts to help return "town baseball" to its former significance in community life.

Until about a decade ago, town semi-pro teams often evoked enough enthusiasm and pride on the part of the local citizenry involved to outdraw some professional teams and at times even develop bigger stars. But that facet of the game has, as we've indicated, been on a sad decline, although it may be enjoying a comeback, at least in Pacifica, with Lorenz.

Backed by the Pacifica Lions' Club and other contributors, the Lions' team is described this way by Lorenz: "The club is primarily for the purpose of developing young ballpayers and getting them ready for a professional career, if they want that, while they further their education."

"The Lions have affiliations with both major league teams (former Westmoor flash Barry Krohn, now a pro, played with the Lions just prior to his signing), and this has helped to draw lads from all over the area and as far down the Peninsula as Palo Alto.

Home field is the Oceana High diamond and any boy from 17 to 21 is eligible to try out for the team. This season's squad is already set but there will be other tryouts.

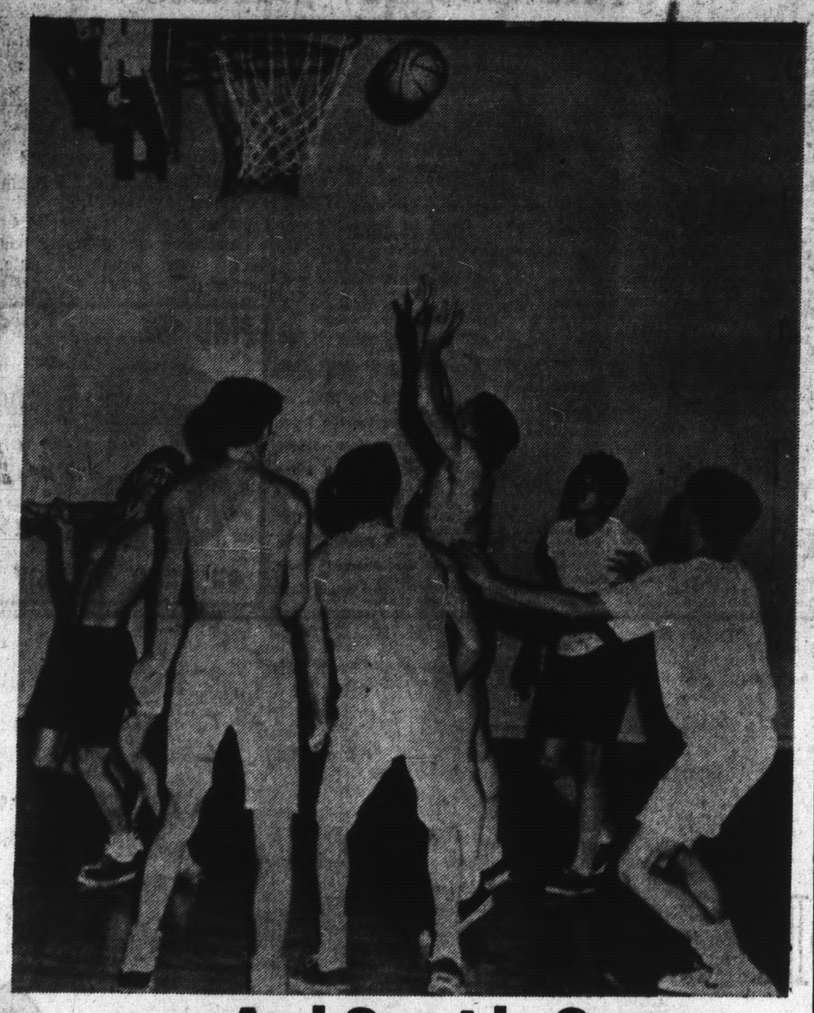
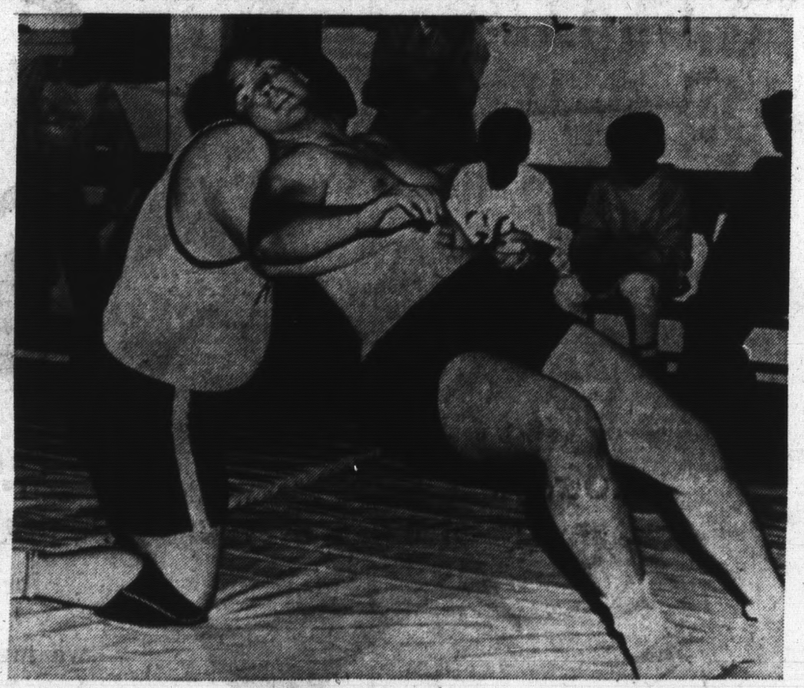
BRIEFS: Thanks, Jack Riskin of Daly City, for reminding us it was Al Simmons and not Jimmy Foxx who hit with his foot in the bucket. . . . Willie McCovey has one of the best "eyes" of any free swinger in the game today. . . . Everybody talks about the power of Minnesota and Milwaukee, but Cincinnati is outhitting them, out-homering them, and out-scoring them — EASILY.

We can't understand the reasoning of some managers who insist on turning their best pitchers into relief men simply because they can get their effectiveness into more games. We're of the opinion that the best pitchers should start, and if you have enough good starters, you need not look for relievers.

Summer Is Basketball . . .



. . . And Grunt 'n Groan



SUMMER months are busy months for the Daly City Recreation Department. Sponsored by the department is a wide range of programs, including the sports activities shown above. In top photo, the Hustlers and the Castoffs compete in the High School Summer Basketball League, which holds its games in the War Memorial Community Center Thursday nights. In bottom photo, members of the grunt and groan fraternity, Tom Powell, left, and Richard Laherty, are all locked up in a recreational wrestling program, also held Thursday nights in the War Memorial. Cow Palace Asks State For Remodeling Funds

By HUGH McDONALD

Determined to see that the Cow Palace will be the locale for major league hockey in the Bay Area, the Cow Palace board of directors has requested the state for funds to alter the building to meet major league hockey standards.

Along with this disclosure, Cow Palace Manager Ed Diran said he is negotiating with the Seals owners for a long-term contract. The Western Hockey League club will be operating this year under the last year of its current pact with the Cow Palace.

Diran said he is seeking a 10-year contract and maintains that the National Hockey League will demand a contract of this duration before it will grant a franchise to a Bay Area entry.

Diran sees the main opposition to the Cow Palace as a hockey center from the new Oakland sports complex. He doubts that a proposed downtown San Francisco center could be ready for several years. He said the Cow Palace could be altered to meet NHL standards within 90 days.

In its resolution directed to the state, the board acknowledged that the Cow Palace does not meet minimum standards for the NHL. The capacity is below the 12,500 required, the box seats and arena floor seats have not the right pitch, and the ice surface is under NHL standard.

In asking for the state funds, the board said they would be used to lower the arena floor and ice rink floor, reconstruct and increase the box seat area, and increase seating capacity to a minimum of 13,786 and the ice playing surface to 85 by 200 feet.

It is noted that this remodeling would make the Cow Palace acceptable to the NHL and thereby make it possible to award a franchise to San Francisco at the NHL October meeting.

Diran maintained that the state's investment would be sound. He said that two years' additional income from increased attendance of major league hockey alone would repay the loan.

The greater seating capacity for events the year around would increase revenue. This would apply especially to the Cow Palace-sponsored Grand National and also would make it possible to book major ice shows for extended runs.

Diran concluded, "The Cow Palace, with the proposed completion of this project could be self-supporting in respect to sponsoring its two annual livestock expositions."

COMMENT

The Watershed Opens a Door

A BREAKTHROUGH of proportions far larger than they may seem has come in the announcement of immediate and long-range plans that will admit the public, under strict control, to certain hiking trails, scenic and educational areas of the Crystal Springs watershed area belonging to to the San Francisco Water Department.

At long last, there will be a program giving limited access to this inspiringly beautiful region for hikers, school children, nature students, painters, photographers and other hobbyists.

Admission to the area will be under rigid control and confined to designated points, but this is, nevertheless, the first crack in the monolithic policy of "they shall not pass" that has so long barred the public from these publicly held lands.

CREDIT FOR this "break-through" must go to San Francisco Public Utilities Manager James Carr and to John O'Marie, chief of the Peninsula Division of the San Francisco Water Department.

They have had the vision to see that the beautiful area over which they hold control is their own greatest assest in public relations.

The augury is a good one.

It holds out real hope that the success of this program can inspire further opening of the huge watershed region to the uses of public recreation and the opening a great treasury of nature and beauty to the people who will rightfully regard it as a precious natural heritage.

Strict Law Enforcement Will Silence That Noise

THE NOISE in modern cities may not be as physiologically dangerous as air pollution but, to a great many people, it is psychologically much more irritating. At its worst it wakes people who are trying to get a hard-earned night's sleep and it has no best. Almost any needless noise is disturbing to people either at work or in their homes.

Whatever kind of a problem noise may be, it should prove possible to eradicate needless noise without too much difficulty by simple exercise of police powers.

RESIDENTS of Peninsula cities know all too well that automobiles and motorcycles are among the worst sources of needless noise. This is not the fault of the vehicles themselves. They are well designed and adequately muffled.

The majority of automobiles, for example, pass along quietly. But then comes a sports car, a home remodeled hotrod, or a "souped-up" motorcycle with no muffler or an open cut out—and the racket is unbearable.

There is no excuse for that sort of noise and there are laws against it. All that is needed is strict enforcement against the auto and motorcycle operators who are violating the law. For other noises, there are laws against distrubing the peace.

And we could all use some peace and quiet.

Pedro Valley Presbyterian

PEDRO VALLEY Presbyterian Church in Pacifica was organized in August of 1955. Charter members at first met in their homes and later gathered in a real estate office in the Linda Mar Shopping Center. The congregation then moved to Linda Mar Elementary School. The Rev. Duane Woodfin was the organizing pastor. He was succeeded in 1958 by the Rev. Augustus Cox who served until March of 1961. Under his ministry, the present sanctuary at 1031 Valencia Way was erected. Present pastor is the Rev. Vernon Alexander who succeeded Reverend Cox. The church membership totals 260 persons. That Ritual At the Beach

Don Miller

RENDONDO BEACH—Well here we are, beach lovers, smack dab in the middle of the beach season—that salty time of the year when it's time to flee the hot interior (as they say in those beach resort propaganda pamphlets) and make for the ocean.

In our burgeoning California these days, making for the beaches is like getting caught up in a stampede that would make some of the Lawrence of Arabia charges up the sand dunes seem like the ladies' bridge club lining up for tea.

Of course, once you've survived the traumatic dash for surfside environs, you're in for an interesting weekend phenomenon at the beaches—a frustrating lack of sanda firma to lay one's beach blanket upon and to ease one's citified frame onto.

We won't say some of these Southern California beaches are crowded but a visual comparison might be to imagine the left field stands at Candlestick park—on a day the Giants are warring with the Dodgers—neatly transplanted to Stinson Beach.

AS YOU surf 'n' sand aficionados know, there's a rather rigid ritual about occupying the beach that is pretty much standard the world over—whether it be in Rangoon or Redondo.

To be assured of a great, clean sweep of the beach and a choice location for the day's festivities, the astute beach-goer times his arrival for an early hour.

Of course, down in these more populous parts, about the only time the great sweep is bereft of a sea of bare arms and legs is at high moon and so if you hanker for a bit of moon-tanning and moonlight swimming, this is the time to make the big arrival.

Usually, however, this kind of procedure runs afoul of nasty old ordinances that frown on nocturnal frolicking on the sand and so about the only way you can be first to the water's edge is to be waiting, beach paraphernalia in hand, at the beach entrance at opening hour.

ONCE ON THE premises, however, the true beach addict follows a highly regimented course of action designed to accrue to him the maximum amount of tanning rays.

Having already carefully perused the meteorological section of The Morning Blat, he knows exactly when the sun wakes up that day and when it will get tired and sink into the depths.

Further, being a true sun worshipper, he also knows all about the sun's declination behaviour for the day (yes, we looked it up) and so having staked out his corner of the beach, expertly lays out his blanket in such manner that angle of body frame will harmonize exactly with declination of sun.

Thus, latecomers to surfside will more than likely find a number of very tanned people lying at the craziest angles—seemingly totally out of keeping with those around them who obviously have not read their Blat that day or looked up the word "declination."

Woe be to the unknowing who has the audacity to erect a beach umbrella in the vicinity of a true beach-goer for though said beach-goer may be sound asleep, the first trace of a shadow to flick across so much as a fingertip will produce a reaction not unlike sticking the fingertip into boiling water.

ONCE THE beach has reached what seems like absolute saturation, a number of other time-tested procedures may be observed in full swing. One of these is known as attaining a radio armistice.

This is always prompted by the painful observation by beach-goers that they won't have to be concerned about being popular neighbors that day because they brought their transistor radios. That's because everybody, BUT EVERYBODY ELSE, brought theirs, too.

At first, about the only thing that happens is that everybody gets pretty sticky about the program they're listening to and merely turns the volume up to drown out the set next door.

And so as the rheostats are twirled forcefully, the noise level rises rapidly until only the experiencd beach-goer can detect the sound of crashing surf about the electronic uproar.

It soon becomes apparent, however, that some sort of understanding will have to be reached and at this point, a radio armistice is arrived at wherein a cluster of radios at a given point may be heard to sound exactly like —which means their owners have agreed on ONE station for that portion of the beach.

ANOTHER HALLMARK of a crowded beach is the trauma that invariably confronts the novice couple who have encamped for the day with scant regard to that celestial phenomenon known as the gravitational pull of sun and moon on earthly waters. (Which is a fancy way of saying tide.)

The novice couple sets up their headquarters close to the water's edge, wondering why nobody else has because, after all, there's plenty of room down there and isn't it nice to be right next to the crashing surf?

What they don't realize, however, is that the crashing will steadily get closer as the tide comes in. Thus, while an absolutely smirking crowd of beach experts farther up the sand looks on with gleefully expectation, the little rivulets of water keep creeping up toward the couple's blanket.

Suddenly, Old Wave Gargantuan, direct from Hawaii, looms up out of the deep and jabbed along by the tide, sends a torrent of surf over the couple, their picnic lunch, their radio, their clothes and their dispositions.

The smirking in the rear echelon breaks out into a muffled roar at this point and although the experts quickly rush to help the couple to dryer surroundings, not one of them would have moved until that moment.

For after all, beach-lovers, that's all part of the day's festivities at an ocean beach and if you told the novices what was in store for them, it just wouldn't be like going to the beach. Now would it?

Better Business

Fraud Bureaus Duplicate BBB

Lorene Beasley

BUSINESS has allotted a staggering figure approaching $19-billion for market research and development in the 1965 fiscal year to please the 191 million American consumers who today enjoy the highest standard of living in the world.

Hundreds of articles, sponsored by business, appear in newspapers and magazines giving advice to the consumer on how to select, purchase and use the products of the manufacturer.

Old established firms, subject to few inquiries or complaints, ask: "What can Better Business Bureaus do for me? Why not let the government take care of the crooked businessman?"

Many business firms do not seem to be aware of the existing federal, state and local consumer-type laws with which ethical business has cooperated for years.

They do not realize just how effective the nationwide system of Better Business Bureaus, supported entirely by business, is in protecting their interests.

Herbert Hoover once stated, "If these voluntary activities, the very nature of American life, were to be absorbed by government agencies, this civilization is over."

THERE IS a great movement today toward consumer representation in management via official representation in government decision-making.

Numerous legislative proposals have affected every branch of the marketing world — pricing, labeling, advertising, etc.

Congressional investigating committees have been busy digging into the most complex problems of the food, automobile and drug markets.

The Federal Trade Commission has de-emphasized voluntary self-regulation in favor of penalizing actions.

Today, 15 states, including California, have a consumer bureau or similar facility, functioning under the direction of the state's Attorney General or other designated state officials, to investigate consumer frauds and to take prescribed actions.

Five other states are currently considering the enactment of bills to establish consumer fraud bureaus.

THE LATE President Kennedy took steps to establish a Consumer Advisory Council. President Johnson appointed a special assistant for consumer affairs, giving the professional consumer organizations their long-sought "voice in the White House." The purpose of this is to establish good communication between consumer and government.

Can one smell a political aroma in this consumer movement, backed by the White House and the resources of Federal Government?

Firms that have spent millions in research and that have observed the voluntary standards of underwriting tests and further protection provided the consumer by quasi-voluntary trade practice rules of some 70 industries feel politics is silently encroaching upon the business world.

Mrs. Esther Peterson, Special Assistant on Consumer Affairs to the President, speaking at the 59th convention of National Association of Attorneys General said, "I need not remind you that action in behalf of consumers is very good politics as well as genuine public service."

SINCE THE present trend is for Attorneys General to deal directly with consumer fraud protection in its aspects, will the subject of consumer frauds be used as a powerful vehicle to gain favorable publicity with the voter?

Historically, a state's attorney general was its chief legal officer and did not concern himself with the prosecution of crimes.

Economic progress depends upon freedom. Better Business Bureaus, sponsored by business, give service to the consumer without any costs.

Consumer fraud bureaus duplicate Better Business Bureau activities. Duplicated are:

(1) Mediating with the complaining party and the individual or concern being complained of, and (2) educating the public concerning the many ways they lose money by patronizing unethical merchants.

THE CONSUMER fraud bureaus draft legislation where activities cannot be adequately controlled by self-policing or are prone to continuing fraudulent practices.

The bureaus provide litigation where the fraudulent and illegal activities are such that the best interests of the public would be served through court action.

Mrs. Helen Nelson's California Consumer Counsel budget was cut from the $129,000 requested by Governor Brown and recommended by the legislative analyst to about $90,000.

Brown bitterly criticized the Legislature for depleting this "significant portion" of the supoort funds from the Office of Consumer Counsel.

The New York Consumer Frauds and Protection Bureau operates with a staff of 16 on a budget of over $100 000. The consumer frauds protection program in Ohio operates currently on an annual budget of $45,000.

It has established a bulletin service among 1,000 agencies, including the prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs, city solicitors, chiefs of police, postal inspectors, and Better Business Bureaus.

The Marquee

They Threw 4,500 Pies

Barbara Bladen

NATALIE WOOD, whose screen and personal appearance image is glamor from start to finish, was assigned a most unpleasant slur to her beauty in "The Great Race." She takes part in a pie throwing contest of proportions yet untried on the silver screen.

After 27 Academy Award nominations and seven wins, Edith Head has designed a wardrobe that is meant to be ruined. Producer Blake Edwards puts his feminine star (she's very, very pretty in person) through such rigorous and costume destroying feats as submersion in water, an attack by a pack of ferocious dogs, enveloped by a black smoke screen, a wild brawl in a Western saloon and last but not least, a fight in which 4,500 pies are hurled aboard, about, above, across, after and against the leading lady and 29 others in the pastry shop scene.

"It's fun at first" the diminutive star explained, "but then it begins to hurt. When you're hit at close range with a cream pie still in the tin, it smarts and the fruit filling hurts your eyes. But you don't notice it because of the thrill of having an unlimited supply of pies to hurl. Everyone has been tempted to do it, and we just had a ball."

BUT ALL THE rosy glow from the berry cream pies changed to nausea purple as the days of filming that scene went by. Tony Curtis pointed out that the lights melted the pastries, so it took more days than expected to complete the scene. Well you know what happens to cream if it's left in the air, without refrigeration. Phew, the smell.

And the technicians had to match the exact coloring of the previous day, so even before the filming began each morning, the cast had to be smeared with the same color combination as the day before.

Can't you just hear them. "Banana over the left eye, chocolate under the chin, more strawberry across the nose and up under the right ear. No, you fool, you've got too much blueberry in his eyebrows. Start again." The makeup men must have had a field day.

Between the terrible odor from the layers of cream on the walls and Miss Wood having to wash her hair three times a day (she couldn't sit around the set with that mess) and Tony having to change his costume every 15 minutes (he wears nothing but white throughout the film and in this scene is supposed to stand in the center of the melee without getting one spot on him—it is a very funny gimmick in the film but took a week of reshooting to achieve), the cast was up to their eyeballs in dessert.

The Book Shelf

Filmland Books Keep on Coming

Samuel Chandler

"VERY FEW BOOKS about the movies are either readable or reliable and hardly any are both." Thus writes Ezra Goodman in his "Fifty Year Decline and Fall of Hollywood."

"Too many volumes about the movies," he writes, "are composed by dilettantes, weak-wristed aficionados, ghostwriters and assorted rewrite men."

Yet the business of writing about Hollywood goes on — laughing in the teeth of critics. Already in 1965, at least 11 titles have appeared in the lists of popular books.

These include: Paul Michael's "The Academy Awards, a Pictorial History"; Pauline Kael's "I Lost It at the Movies"; Virgil E. Miller's "Splinters From Hollywood Tripods"; "A Memoir of a Cameraman," and Michael Conway's compilation of "The Films of Jean Harlow."

The last named is a biography and commentary replete with pictures and statements by movie critics. All the usual information, that which has been published many times before, is in the first chapter.

HER REAL NAME was Harlean Carpenter. Her father was a dentist. Her mother was the original Jean Harlow. When she was 16, she eloped with Charles F. McGrew and moved to Los Angeles where a girl friend talked her into working as an extra in Hollywood movies. When her husband objected, their marriage was dissolved. A short time later her big break came in a film entitled "Hell's Angels."

The second section of the book is all pictures showing the star from childhood to shortly before her death at 26. As one might expect, most of the pictures are leggy and chic — showing why she was a favorite pin-up girl for at least 10 years after her death.

THE THIRD section contains a discussion and a sample of the reviews of each of Miss Harlow's films, from "Double Whoopee" with Laurel and Hardy to the sophisticated "Libeled Lady," which she made with William Powell, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy.

The critics gave Miss Harlow better treatment than they have given sex queens of recent years. They found her to be a "really fine comedienne." One wrote: "Jean jumps right into character and gets everything out of it that was ever written."

This book, "The Films of Jean Harlow," is a much better biography than the last to appear because the first and second sections deal with Miss Harlow as an artist rather than with her amours.

NOTEWORTHY among the other 1965 books about the movies is "I Lost It at the Movies," by Pauline Kael, who is a San Francisco film critic and radio commentator. The book is a collection of some of her best reviews dating from the late 1950's and the 1960's. Here one finds a critic lambasting the so-called art house movies of today and beating critics who don't agree with her.

"I Lost It at the Movies," has not been kindly received by some book reviewers. One remarks that what Miss Kael should have lost was those attempts to be witty that misfire or turn vulgar. Another said he had to cross seven hurdles to get to what makes this book an important title.

I find Miss Kael's reviews far superior to that variety found in so many newspapers and periodicals. Miss Kael, in spite of her attacks on other critics, seems interested in the art of movie making and acting — not in the sensationalism that marks the careers of the performers. Sensationalism does little for a grand old institution that is beset by television and picture books.

Let us refer to Ezra Goodman again. "So conditioned are the local citizens to a docile, pussy-footing press that they are quite easily thrown for a dead loss by a fairly independent reporter." Miss Kael is independent.

Same Script–Only Month Later in Speeding Arrest

Same script, only a month later, is the way Daly City Patrolman Robert Sola described a traffic arrest last week.

The officer arrested Gary Ray Anderson, 21, of 1500 Briggs Street, Colma, on charges of reckless driving and evading arrest about 1:15 a.m. Friday after a 90-mile-an-hour chase that led out of Daly City and through San Francisco's Outer Mission District.

Exactly a month ago Friday, Sola had arrested Anderson on another reckless driving charge. The driver subsequently was found guilty.

In the reprise last week, Sola said he spotted Anderson's car speeding north on Mission Street.

After a chase that ended when the suspect's car rammed two parked autos on Ney Street in San Francisco, Sola, aided by San Francisco police, found Anderson hiding in a backyard on Ney.

JESD Cool To Request From State

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District have accepted a recommendation by the county district attorney's office that the district oppose a move by the state to gain free title of district land for freeway purposes.

Assistant District Attorney Lois Scampini termed "inadvisable" a proposal by the state division of highways that the the district hand over to the division property near Christopher Columbus School and the new intermediate school site adjacent to the St. Francis Square Shopping Center.

Trustees agreed with Miss Scampini's opinion that the district should receive compensation for the property and a consideration of liability for adjoining property during construction of the freeway projects.

The highway division, in its present request for title to the land, did not mention compensation or any liability for adverse affects of freeway construction to adjoining properties.

The board approved a change order for the Vista Mar bank reconstruction project in the amount of $1,984 for the installation of a new asphalt pavement and new concrete walk. Assistant District Supt. David Shapiro reported that these improvements were not eligible for state funds.

Also approved was a change order for the John F. Kennedy School site in the amount of $824 for filter rock installation. Ted Wright, project engineer, reported that during the course of grading, underground springs were found that could cause the earth to shift after a period of time. The rock installation had already been done on an emergency measure.

The board authorized Harding Associates to begin soil testing at the Woodrow Wilson School addition site. The board specified the cost of this testing is not to exceed $2,500.

Gifts from P-TA's were accepted in these amounts: $200 Daniel Webster, for library books; $32.50, Geroge Washington, for library books; $100, Olympia School, library books, and Vista Mar work study skill books for grades, four, five and six.

Mrs. Nettle to Head CSM Unit

Eleanor D. Nettle, a member of the board of trustees of the College of San Mateo, was elected chairman of the board last week.

A San Mateo housewife, she has served two previous one-year terms as president—in 1957 and 1958.

JUHS Asks New Move in School Unity

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District, weary of the long-running attempt to unify North County schools, have asked the State Legislature either to repeal the present unification laws or take one of two courses:

Abolish the County School District Organization Committee and place unification planning under the jurisdiction of the county board of education.

Mandate unification through legislation.

In a resolution calling for one of the three alternatives, trustees noted that school trustees and administrative staffs are spending "valuable time" on unification matters rather than "pressing educational problems."

The resolution also pointed out that school districts in the county are losing nearly $1 million annually in state aid because of failure to unify. And it added:

"County school district organization committees thrcughout the state are now controlled by persons more dedicated to maintaining the status quo than creating a soundly-based educational system."

STEREO TAPES STOLEN

John J. Sattler of 440 Norfolk Drive, Pacifica, reported to Daly City police last week that 11 stereo tapes, valued at $90, had been stolen from his auto while it was parked in a lot at the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

The Cause of Cavities — The cause of cavities is not known, but most dentists agree sugar is considered as one of the possible factors. This is not the whole answer, but it is important to remember that if we are going to face facts, we may have to limit the sugar in our diet for the sake of our teeth. The problem is a great one. Among sugar containing items are many of the fruits, fruit juices, and vegetables. Even skimmed milk contains about 5% sugar. The list is almost endless, and includes such things as cookies, candies, soft drinks, pies, cakes, ice cream, jams, jellies, etc. Ask your dentist about the amount of sugar permissible for the health of your teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

AS VACATION approached, our children were full of summer plans and great expectations of summer fun. Vacation is half through and all those plans and expectations have been used up and/or forgotten. And each day mother hears that sad and sorry complaint, "There's nothing to do. What'll I do?"

When my husband was a little boy, his family lived in upper New York and his mother tells about her neighbor who handled complaints in this manner:

When her youngster came in whining that he had nothing to do, she would grab up a paddle and take a swat at the seat of his pants saying, "Here, I'll give you something to do." With that he would scoot out the screen door, making it his business to find a better way than that to spend a hot summer afternoon.

I don't advocate such a violent course. If your complainant happens to be a daughter, you might try my method. I asked her to bake me some cookies, which she did gladly, even changing and re-naming the recipe. Terri is a radio and TV fan and the name of the recipe will give you an idea of her listening tastes.

HERMAN'S HERMITS

1½ cup brown sugar
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
3 eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1 package chocolate bits
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 cup raisins

Cream shortening and sugar. Sift together dry ingredients. Add eggs to sugar mixture. Blend well and add sifted dry ingredients. Lastly, add nuts, raisins and chocolate bits. Drop on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven.

THIS RECIPE makes a tremendous, large, huge amount of cookies. And it's a good thing, for they are so good that even in this quantity they won't last long and before you know it, you can have your little darling while away another afternoon baking.

While Terri was baking, I decided to try out a recipe that I had tucked away into my files for months. And I'm glad I did try it for the results were most delicious and very unusual.

DUTCH BUTTER SLICES

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1½ cups coarsely chopped filberts (I used walnuts)
½ cup poppy seeds
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teapsoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups flour

Cream butter and sugar together. Add egg yolk. Stir in nuts, poppy seeds, spices, vanilla and salt. Gradually add enough flour to make a firm but sticky dough. Do not knead or work dough after all flour is added. Form into rolls one and a half inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper.

Chill for four hours or until rolls are firm. Set oven at 325 degrees. Using a serrated knife, cut rolls into quarter-inch slices. Place slightly apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake for 12 minutes or until cookies are sand-colored. Makes about 48.

Catholic Social Service Group Plans Style Show

Theatres in the round are now an integral part of Peninsula life, and the Catholic Social Service Auxiliary of San Mateo County is making use of that fact.

The auxiliary has engaged the Hyatt Music Theatre in Burlingame for a day and will present its "Autumn Showcase" fashion show.

Mrs. Charles Creighton, president of the auxiliary, has appointed Mrs. Gerald Stronck of San Carlos as director of the September 1 event. She will be assisted by Mrs. George Doherty of Hillsborough.

The auxiliary has presented the show annually for the past seven years and this year will feature fashions from H. Liebes. Lloyd Liebes Jr. will describe the fashions after the champagne social hour, and Mrs. Liebes will co-ordinate the styles.

Leading roles in the production have been assigned Mesdames Lachlin McKinnon, John J. OLeary, and Adolph Pahl, decorations; Stephen L. Vistica, publicity; Robert Tuck, sponsors; Edward Trucco, reservations; Charles Ketcham and Acton E. O'Donnell, awards; Hubert Stronck, refreshments; Peter Fagan, hostesses; James Prickett, secretary; John Carufel, television and radio arrangements; Faxon Bishop, programs, and Miss Winifred Burke, printing.

S.S.F. Library Hosts Art Show

Once again, the South San Francisco Public Library is exhibiting the oil paintings of one of its local residents, Bob Bischoff.

A native of San Francisco and a graduate of Lincoln High School, Bischoff is currently studying under Warren Brandon, an artist of national repute.

The pictures on display are what Bischoff calls prismatic landscapes. The paintings introduce subtle lines, usually vertical, giving the effect of variable or shifting depths and variations of color.

Since last exhibiting at the public library, Bischoff has become an award winning artist. The exhibit will be on display at the library until July 30.

CREAM SOUP HINTS

When you want to use those small quantities of leftover cooked vegetables in a nutritious cream soup for your family, count on adding a cup of the cut-up vegetables to a couple of cups of thin white sauce.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

THE SECOND in our summer series on organizations within the community will concern itself with the Friends of the Daly City Library, a relatively new addition to the city's roster of clubs designed to help people serve their city.

The local branch of the Friends of the Library is affiliated with the Friends of the California Libraries, according to Mrs. Hal Fox, president of the local unit. Similiar branches dot the United Sates but there is no direct affiliation between the out-of-state units and the Daly City group.

While each unit assumes a mode which best enables it to meet the needs of the particular community in which it is located, all the Friends of the Library groups have certain basic goals in common.

In addition to a love for literature and the arts, persons wishing to join with such a unit must be willing to assume certain responsibilities. The members are to feel that they are advisers to and staunch supporters of the local library officials and they should attempt to always help further library policies and programs that will assist the library in attaining its objectives.

IN PUBLIC libraries, such as the local ones on Southgate Avenue, Mission Street, and Acacia Street, the units must consist of citizens who are convinced that the libraries are of unquestionable importance.

The members are people who realize that libraries contribute immeasurably to the life of their community, state, and nation. One of the main reasons persons join this group is to help interpret the library to the constituency and to promote the extension and strengthening of the library program.

Where the libraries also serve college and university communities, the association members adhere strongly to the theory that the library is the heart of any center of higher education. In such areas, the units assist the library to become more adequate and so fill its important role.

Philosophically, the units are motivated by a feeling that they are as important to a library as a parent-teacher association is to the public school and an alumni association is to a college or university.

Librarians and the local library boards, working without public support, cannot make the library the real educational force it should be in the community it serves, according to members of this fine organization.

AS A UNIT grows and its members gain in knowledge of its potential, many unique ways develop in which local groups can help their libraries. Basically, each such organization attempts to focus attention not only on the services and facilities but also on the needs of the library.

The Daly City group has worked to enrich the resources of the library by acquiring books, magazines and other library materials, as well as working to find fine or rare book collections.

On a nationwisde basis, units are pledged to support building programs, secure bookmobiles for the extension of the library service, and contribute to the cultural opportunities of the community by sponsoring book fairs, exhibits, story hours, forums, book talks, musicals and radio participation by the library.

THE DALY CITY Friends of the Library have established a remarkable record of accomplishments in a short time. Organized in 1956, the group was able to create community interest sufficiently strong to lead to the erection of the Westlake Library. Shortly after formation, the group introduced a collection of circulating phonograph records and a collection of circulating prints of great art.

A non-profit group, with a wealth of energy and devotion, it has been able to stimulate continuing community interest in the activities of the Daly City Library and to provide a bridge of personal understanding between the library and the community and to establish a liaison between the library and the city government.

While the Friends of the Daly City Library do an excellent job of fostering and developing cultural activities within the city of Daly City, co-operating with the Board of Trustees and the City Council and securing an ever better library service for the entire community, it serves its own volunteers as well.

According to Mrs. Fox, the members have numerous opportunities to meet with various community leaders and the group gives members an opportunity to work within a group devoted entirely to the cultural improvement of Daly City.

THE LIST OF annual activities is long and varied. Last year, the group sponsored a children's Christmas party at the library. Awards were presented to children who completed a summer reading program; the unit initiated and continues to encourage memorial gifts of books to the library and has, itself, annually presented a gift to the library. (Past gifts have included a bulletin board, a display case, a set of topographical maps and various sets of books.)

Each year the Friends of the Daly City Library have observed the National Library Week with suitable displays and publicity and have sponsored an open house reception in all the branch libraries during Library Week.

Annually, the group co-operates with the Daly City Garden Club and each year has a table, displaying books from the library on gardening, flower arranging and kindred subjects, at the Garden Club's annual show. Monthly book review meetings sponsored by the unit feature qualified speakers who review books of current interest.

During the past year, authors Richard Dillon, Ralph Moody and Mark Harris; newspaperman Luther Nichols; restauranteur and author George Mardikian, and Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, the president of the College of San Mateo, have all addressed meetings of the Friends of the Daly City Library. According to Mrs. Fox, the book fair held last year for fund raising purposes was successful and will be repeated this coming year.

THE AGENDA of activities undertaken by the Friends of the Daly City Library is lengthy, the work members accomplish is awesome and yet the personal and public gratification is even more monumental. Membership is open to any interested person or organization and the fee for participating is nominal—only $1 per individual, $2.50 for a family membership and $5 for organizations. A fee of $25 will entitle one to classification as a patron.

Applications for membership are available at the libraries and the librarians are very willing to provide additional information, Mrs. Fox said.

In addition to Mrs. Fox, the executive board is made up of Mrs. William Bagnall, Mrs. Samuel Simon, Mrs. George Windhurst, Mrs. Julian Cohn, Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. Frank Specht, Mrs. Winsor Josselyn and Mrs. Winton Stratton.

They Guide Heart Association

SUNNING AND SMOKING

Cancer Society Offers 2 Films

"Summer" and "smoke" are themes of two new films produced by the American Cancer Society and made available for showing to interested local groups by the San Mateo County Branch of the Society.

"Sense in the Sun" is timely for mid-summer club programming, according to Mrs. Charles Geraci of San Carlos, branch chairman for public education.

The film emphasizes the danger of overexposure to normally beneficial sun rays, which can cause skin cancer.

"Sense in the Sun" recommends that anyone who spends much time in the sun follow simple rules — wear a wide-brimmed hat to shade the face and adequate clothing to cover the body.

In the 14-minute color film, the central character is a fisherman who overlooks these precautions.

Second of the new Society pictures, "Who,' Me?" is the first film on cigarette smoking produced by the Society for showings chiefly to adults.

The film tells the story of a typical heavy smoker and his reactions when his children begin to experiment with cigarettes.

The treatment is light, but a strong message emphasizes to parents a responsibility to their children as well as to themselves to give up cigarettes.

"Who, Me?," also in color, has a 20-minute running time.

Both pictures are available for showing to interested groups or organizations by the San Mateo County branch, 341-8749. The public education committee of the branch provides a projector and projectionist for each showing.

Constitution and Bylaws Adopted

Members of the new Daly City Senior Citizens Club adopted a constitution and bylaws at the club's weekly meeting at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse last week.

Dr. Roy Kerwin, a psychologist with the North County Mental Health Clinic at 45 Southgate Avenue in Daly City, discussed mental health problems facing cities of today.

He invited members to tour the clinic.

Another speaker, Mayor Francis Pacelli, wished the club success and invited members to assist a new city historical committee in gathering material relating to the early development of the city.

The club will meet again at 11 a.m. today in the clubhouse.

City of Hope Is Presented Check

A $100 check has been presented to the City of Hope by Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary 1848 of Daly City, according to an announcement by Lynne Boskey, president of the auxiliary.

The City of Hope is one of several charitable organizations to which the auxiliary contributes.

The check was presented during a Eagles convention in Fresno by Mrs. Alberta Diebel, secretary of the Auxiliary.

6,600 Attending Classes at CSM

Enrollment in College of San Mateo's summer session classes totals 6,660 this year, a 22.9 per cent increase over 1964, Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, college president reports.

The number of persons enrolled in the classes totals 5,276, a 22 per cent increase, he said.

Noting that pre-planning for the session had been quite accurate, Bortolazzo said that the average class size for the day college is 31.88, and for the evening college, 35.65.

S.S.F. Band Sets Concert

An evangelist from the Philippines will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday in First Baptist Church at 542 Lisbon Street in Daly City.

His appearance will be another in a series of missionary programs that have been held at the church this year.

The church will sponsor a daily vacation Bible school for youngsters, 4 through 17 years of age, August 2 through August 13. Sessions will run each day from 8:45 a.m. to noon. Graduation will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, August 13.

Teachers will be Mrs. Dan Ewert, Mrs. Arthur Himm, Mrs. William Mackey, Mrs. Don Berry, Mrs. Frank Reaser, Mrs. Art Eckman and the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Archer. Reverend Archer is pastor of First Baptist.

World Rule Need Voiced

World government is necessary to the preservation and happiness of the human family, Arden B. Stutler, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, told nearly 16,000 persons attending a four-day retraining conference for Jehovah's Witnesses at the State Fairgrounds in Sacramento.

He was the principal speaker during the converence. A Daly City delegation to the meeting was led by William Thompson, presiding minister of Daly City Jehovah's Witnesses.

Camp Data To be Aired At Services

Details of summer camping programs conducted by the Baptist General Conference will be emphasized at all services and programs at Westside Baptist Church Sunday.

Four programs will be conducted next month. Junior high and senior high groups will meet at camp sites along Hume Lake August 7-14.

Junior girls will meet August 14-21 and junior boys August 21-28 at Mission Springs in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

The Rev. A. David Donnelly will direct the Senior High camp and Alton Swedberg the junior boys' camp.

At the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday, Reverend Donnelly will begin a series of messages on the Book of James. He will speak on the topic: "Common to Man."

Sea Bowl Wins Fifth Straight

The Sea Bowl downed the Pacifica Pirates, 11-2, to win its fifth straight game and take the first round American League championship in the Adult Lob Ball League, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department.

In the National League with a game left to play, the Astros were undefeated after six games. Bethlehem Lutheran Saints were in second with a 4-1 record.

Table Tennis Roster Grows

Membership in the Adult Table Tennis Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, is expanding rapidly, club officials report.

The club meets at 7 p.m. Mondays in the Westlake Park Clubhouse. Anyone interested in joining the club is urged to attend a Monday session.

Supervisors On Bond Vote

County supervisors did some fast backtracking last week on the proposed September bond issue for county hospital facility improvements.

Supervisors James V. Fitzgerald admitted that it was a case of the left hand not knowing what the right hand was doing.

During the morning session of the board's weekly meeting Tuesday, three supervisors passed a resolution calling for a single-item bond proposition of $7,225,000 for a six-story addition to the new wing of County General Hospital in San Mateo, improvements to the outpatient clinic and a new mental health wing.

The resolution was rescinded in the afternoon session, however. Supervisor Fitzgerald explained that he had talked with County Manager E. R. Stallings by phone during the lunch hour and learned Supervisors T. Louis Chess, William M. Werder and Stallings have different ideas about the bond issue.

Coast CD Complains About Data in Tidal Wave Alerts

The Pacifica Civil Defense Council is worried over what it says is the city's lack of information on tidal wave alerts.

Police Chief Neil Tremaine reported that CD officials will prepare a basic plan for tidal wave alerts since the alerts have a definite pattern and tidal waves will be a constant threat to the community.

He reported that at present, the city does not get enough information on the tidal wave alerts and explained to the council the kind of information that is nedeed in order to know the proper action to take when an alert is received.

He also said a basic tidal wave alert will be used for an October 9 Civil Defense drill.

In other business, Caroline Bourell, CD nursing director, reported that a portable first-aid training station has been received and is being stored at Oddstad Park. She said her group hopes to put on a demonstration in the near future.

FISHBOWLS
WERE MEANT FOR FISH.
NOT FOR PEOPLE.

For people there should be real honest to goodness houses. Closed off, private houses with solid walls. At least that's how Traditional Homes in Burlingame feels about it. We just can't see the modern, open, glass fishbowl. The place where the sun bakes in and the furniture fades out. Where heating bills skyrocket the minute temperatures drop. And where Mom or Dad seem to do nothing but wash glass that baby smudges or rain splatters.

No, that's not the way Traditional Homes sees a house at all. We happen to think that people are old fashioned enough to want solid 6 inch walls around them. To want a room they can close off without someone peering in on them. And that people want enough glass for sunlight and ventilation all right, but not so much that they become a slave to it. Ideas like this about privacy may not be new, but they're as good today as they were a hundred years ago. That's why they're part of a Traditional Home.

One place we're open, though, is to your comments about houses. If you have any, write us about them. Traditional Homes, 1801 Sebastian Dr., Burlingame, Calif.

3, 4 and 5 bedrooms. $43,500-$46,500. From Bayshore Freeway take the Millbrae turnoff to El Camino. Left on El Camino to Trousdale Boulevard (1st light), then right to Traditional Homes. Telephone 697-6008. A development of the Alpha Land Company.

SUIT THE MENU to the breezy warmth of June. Serve versatile soup and sandwiches on the patio. Here is a chilly, mouth-watering Taj Mahal cooler made with canned condensed cream of chicken soup, green pepper, onion, and cardamon. It's "go-with" is a hot open-face sandwich of chutney, shrimp, and cheese.

Party Luncheon Fare: Frosty Soup

Make your patio menu of soup and sandwiches fit the mood of breezy, warm days. Versatile as nothing else can be, this favored twosome offers hostesses myriad ways of serving a warm weather meal.

For your next "party" luncheon feature a frosty cold soup . . . and mate it with a hot sandwich. Canned condensed cream of chicken soup serves as the base for a Taj Mahal Cooler. Finely chopped green pepper adds a note of cool color; chopped onion and ground cardamon add the flavor surprise. (And, you'll find this delicious soup is just as good served hot!)

TAJ MAHAL COOLER

2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
⅛ teaspoon ground cardamon
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 soup can water
Toasted flaked coconut or toasted slivered almonds

In saucepan, cook green pepper, onion, and cardamon in butter until pepper is tender. Blend in soup and water. Heat; stir now and then. Place in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours or until thoroughly chilled. Thin to desired consistency. Garnish with coconut or almonds. Serve in chilled bowls. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Note: This soup is excellent served hot.

INDIAN SHRIMPWICH

1 tablespoon chopped chutney
½ teaspoon curry powder
3 slices buttered toast
½ pound small shrimp, cooked and cleaned
3 slices (3 ounces) mild process cheese
Chopped parsley

Mix chutney and curry powder; spread on toast. Top with shrimp. Cover with cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Garnish with parsley. Makes 3 sandwiches.

A Different Way to Serve Tomato Juice

Want a "different" way to serve tomato juice? Here it is!

Tomato Frappe Tuna Pate
Curried Chicken Rice
Mango Chutney Salad Bowl
Coconut Cake Beverage

TOMATO FRAPPE

2 cans (each 18 fluid ounces) tomato juice
¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 egg white

Pour 1 can of the tomato juice into a freezer tray; freeze until partially frozen. Chill the second can. When ready to serve, pour chilled juice into a shaker. Add remaining ingredients and shake until frothy. Spoon partially frozen juice into each glass; pour in seasoned juice. Makes six servings.

For Perfect Party Tuna Tidbit Tree

Tuna tidbits bloom on this delightfully edible topiary tree, party-perfect for so many entertaining events. Popular tuna blends with cream cheese and nippy spices into miniature balls which are attached to the tree with picks. Cherry tomatoes add a perky color note.

The tuna tidbits make an ideal first course, hors d'oeuvre, or sumptuous snacks, depending on your party requirements. Allowance for extra tidbits is made in the recipe so your tree will always be in bloom!

Tuna Topiary Tidbit Tree

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, well drained
2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup finely chopped parsley
Small pickled onions
1 pint cherry tomatoes

In large bowl of electric mixer, combine tuna, cream cheese, dry mustard, and Tabasco. Beat until smooth and well blended. Form into small balls about ¾ inch in diameter; roll in chopped parsley. Chill thoroughly. On picks, thread first the small onions, then the tuna balls. Place the cherry tomatoes on additional picks and alternate on the tree with the tuna-onion picks. Arrange any remaining tuna-onion picks and tomatoes on bed of parsley around base of tree.

Directions for Making Tree

15-inch dowel
Papier-maché or earthenware pot 5½ to 6 inches in diameter and 5½ inches deep
Plaster of Paris
Medium grapefruit

Anchor dowel in pot with plaster of Paris so dowel extends to bottom of pot. Make small hole in stem end of grapefruit and press grapefruit over end of dowel; there should be about 7 inches of dowel between the grapefruit and the top of pot.

OUTDOOR CHUCK STEAK—If the meat is treated with instant meat tenderizer it may be broiled over charcoal for a patio supper.

Thrifty Steak Cuts Fine for Barbecue

California beef in any way, shape of form always creates an aura of specialness in summer barbecue menus. Thick, succulent beef steaks or beautiful beef tenderloins are probably the most elegant charcoal grilled foods in anyone's repertoire.

Californians have the good fortune to eat home grown beef of the finest quality. Variety meats adds interest to marm weather menus. Select, for example, skirt steak for seasoning with lemon juice and a few grinds of pepper. Cut it in cubes and cook on skewers rare or well done as you wish. Ir, after the marinating, cook the steak whole and serve in diagonally cut slices. The lemon enhances the succulence of this beef cut.

The ever popular cheeseburger shows up on the barbecue grill as handsome crescent shaped turnovers with all the condiments sealed inside. Shape the lean ground beef mixture in thin round patties on waxed paper. Top each with cheese and a savory chili sauce mixture, then use the waxed paper to shape the turnovers in short order.

ZESTY SKIRT STEAK SKEWERS

Plan a colorful tossed vegetable salad and rice pilaf casserole to go with this succulent beef entree. Chocolate cake's the perfect dessert.

1 (1¼-pound) skirt steak
Lemon juice
Coarsely ground pepper
Small fresh or canned mushroom caps
Seasoned salt

Cut steak into cubes. Sprinkle generously with lemon juice and pepper. Place in refrigerator at least 1 hour or overnight. Thread on skewers alternately with mushroom caps; sprinkle with seasoned salt. Grill over medium coals until done as desired. Makes about 4 servings.

NOTE: If desired, steak may be marinated and grilled whole. After grilling, cut steak diagonally across the grain into thin slices using sharp knife.

CHILI CHEESEBURGER TURNOVERS

Serve this savory beefburger fare with celery and carrot sticks, a hearty potato salad and herb buttered French bread. Bake a pie of fresh seasonal fruits for the grand finale.

1 lightly beaten egg
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 round slices American cheese
¼ cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon instant minced onion

Arrange half slice cheese over half of each patty; divide chili sauce mived with onion and mustard over cheese. Lifting one edge of paper, fold one side of patty over other to make crescent shape. Press edges together. Grill over medium coals until hot through and cooked as desired. Makes 6 servings.

Molded Ham Salad Pleases At Luncheon

When you have a pretty special molded ham loaf ready for luncheon, it's easy to approach the occasion with a feeling of confidence for its success.

Tomato sauce gives a good base for this ground ham loaf, advises a widely-known meat authority. Capers and horseradish add interesting flavor touches to sharpen its taste.

There are enough vegetables in this loaf to give it crunchiness, so it might be served with spiced pears or peaches and small muffins or toast triangles such as raisin or rye. An easy dessert would be brownies a la mode served with iced tea or coffee.

Party Best Ham Salad

2 cups ground cooked ham
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon capers
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup drained pickle relish
½ cup thinly sliced celery
1 hard cooked egg, sliced

Soften gelatin in 1-3 cup cold water. Combine tomato sauce and 1 cup water in saucepan and heat to boiling. Add softened gelatin and lemon juice and chill until slightly thickened. Stir in ham, capers, horseradish, mayonnaise, onion, green pepper, pickle relish and celery. Arrange sliced egg lengthwise in a lightly greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Pour in ham mixture. Chill 4 to 5 hours or until firm. Unmold. 6 to 8 servings.

If cooking indoors, heat a tablespoon or two of butter or salad oil in a medium skillet; add patties and brown rapidly on both sides; reduce heat and cook to desired doneness. If cooking outdoors, brush patties with melted butter or salad oil before grilling. Makes 4 servings. Double recipe if desired.

2-3 cup commercial sour cream

Before Barbecue Appetizer Treat

Try an appetizer pacifier. Before the barbecue is ready everyone will be famished. Hold back appetites with this delightful cold soup ready to serve in paper cups. Cheese Butter Buns, Elaborately Simple, for Kissin' Cousins

Ah, summertime! The backyard is cool and beckoning but the living isn't always easy for the homemaker . . . especially when Cousin Joe or Aunt Mollie has just called to say the whole family's coming over for a visit. You couldn't feel less like cooking an elaborate meal, even for your favorite relatives!

No need to. They'll enjoy a picnic-style meal just as well, if the food is well prepared. Keep the menu simple, but add one or two flavoring tricks to bring it out of the realm of the ordinary.

Here's where a cupboard full of convenience foods comes in handy. Ready-mix sauces add delicious flavor to many a dish without the necessity of your devoting hours to cooking.

For example, home economists sugegst a few trick for hamburgers; put them on cheese butter buns. The cheese-butter mixture is a snap to make with hamburgers; put them on cheese sauce and it really makes humdrum hamburgers become a super-sandwich treat. A light, prepared yellow mustard is the proper spread to use on this sandwich.

A creamy, cool coleslaw, with piqant flavor, will be a hit with even the most persnickety relative.

Cooking experts have chosen watermelon, cool and refreshing, as the desert for this menu along with iced lemonade. Let the relatives descend — they'll be a pleasure to entertain when you rustle up good dishes like this with little work involved.

Place buns in foil covered pan at the back of the grill or near the heat to warm. Slide a hot hamburger onto bottom half of bun. Spread hamburger with mustard. Cover with top half of bun. Makes 8 servings.

Cheese Cake Loved by Greeks, Romans, Pilgrims and Russ

Ever since history has been recorded, people have eaten cheese. And ever since culinary history has been recorded, people have eaten cheesecake.

The ancient Greeks left us the earliest recorded recipe for cheesecake which appears in the "Depnosophists,'" the world's oldest cookbook! Written by Athenaeus, "The Depnosophists" was published in 228 A.D., a 15-volume account of the food and feasting of the fashionable in Ancient Greece.

According to Athenaeus, the subject of food was of paramount importance to Athenians. They made it a study to enhance the pleasures of the table with agreeable conversation, and table talk became a science. The preparation and service of food was a frequent topic of philosophical discussion, and cheesecake was a choice subject of debate.

The Greeks had numerous recipes for cheesecake — and numerous words for it. Each version was named for its inventor, ie. Apician cheescake, the creation of Apicus, Aristoxenian cheesecake, Philoxenean cheesecake, etc. Recipes were highly prized and jealously guarded.

Cheesecake was a menu "must'" for second-century Greek style. For a fashionable "dole-basket supper," each guest contributed a share of the food and wine. Cheesecake was served in gaily decorated boxes, to be enjoyed along with hippocras, a spiced sweet wine.

Plato mentioned cheesecake, and a town near Thebes was named for it. So greatly esteemed was cheesecake that it was widely known as "Dainty food for mortal man."

ROMANS PRIZED CHEESECAKE

Cheese was also a mainstay of the Ancient Roman diet. Wealthy Romans imported their chefs from Greece and thus learned the secret of cheesecake. The dish became one of the most prized specialties of the times.

Early English cookbooks and "receipts" handed down through the centuries describe cheesecake tarts. These tarts, were called "Maids of Honour," named for the maids of honour at the court of Elizabeth I. They have become such an important part of the English cookery that the Lord Mayor of London picked them as the dessert with which to regale Queen Elizabeth II at the city luncheon in Guildhall, honoring her Coronation.

The original recipe for Maids of Honour was said to have sold for 1,000 pounds. The filling of the tarts had the usual cheesecake ingredients, butter, eggs and pounds of cheese with nutmeg, brandy, lemon and orange-flower water for flavor.

When the Pilgrims sailed to America they brought with them round Dutch cheeses. The colonists also developed methods for making cheese in the home. However, it is probable that cheesecake was not widely served until cheeses were manufactured commercially.

RUSSIANS EASTER CHEESECAKE

The Russians have Pashka, a cream cheese and sour cream cake filled with raisins and candied fruit or peel, brought to Russia by the Byzantines. Pashka is traditional for Easter. It is pressed into a tall wooden mold bearing the sign of the cross or "XB," initials which mean "Christ is Risen."

The French learned of cheesecake from the Russians. Czar Alexander visited frequently in Western Europe; Paris was one of his favorite spots. The Czar always brought along his chef —who taught the French chefs how to make Pashka. The French adopted it but changed the shape into a heart and named it Coeur a la Creme. The French also have numerous plans with custard cheese filling and fruit toppings that resemble cheese pies.

The Balkan countries also have their versions of cheesecake. Jewish immigrants who came to America increased the demand for cheesecake. Two restaurants in New York City—Reubens and Lindy's—became famous for their Jewish-American cheesecake. They popularized the fruit topped cheesecake; it is said that pineapple cheesecake is the number one favorite in New York City.

Enjoy Soups And Salads This Season

As the unpredictable barometric highs and lows shift temperatures up and down the thermometer, preferences for soup temperatures become mercurial, too. "Some like it hot, some like it cold" went the centuries old nursery rhyme from Mother Goose, obviously written in the good old summertime.

Now, with home gardens beginning to overflow with crisp and juicy rewards, is the time to enjoy suppers of soup and salads. Serve the soup icy cold in sparkling glasses on a warm day. Serve it steaming hot in chunky mugs if some coolness has crept into the air. Come warm days or cool ones, nothing perks up the meal like soup.

Serve the soup of your choice or indulge in a culinary adventure by mixing two complementary soups. There's nothing monotonous about soup flavors. All canned soup are born mixers. You might combine condensed cream of celery and beef soups . . . cream of mushroom soup and Scotch broth . . . cream of chicken and asparagus soup. The possibilities are legion.

Make use of garnishes. They give added flavor and step up appetite appeal. Float a sliver of mushroom atop a mug of spiced green pea soup. Sprinkle finely chopped green onion tops or chives on a cream soup. Other good garnishes are grated onion, sweet or sour cream, paper thin carrot curls, slivered almonds or chopped peanuts, buttered popcorn or a pat of butter or margarine (this last for hot soup, of course). The list of goodies that makes soups taste and look even better is as endless as your imagination.

Hot Spiced Green Pea Soup
1 can (11¼ ounces) condensed green pea soup
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed beef broth
1½ soup cans water
Dash nutmeg
Mushroom slices

Blend soup and broth in saucepan; add water and nutmeg. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with mushroom slices. Makes four to five servings.

Chilled Tomato Tang
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 soup can water
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
Parsley or lemon slices (optional)

Blend soup and water; stir in lemon rind. Place in refrigerator for at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled mugs or cups. If desired, garnish with parsley or lemon slices. Makes two to three servings.

Garden Fresh Chef's Salad
4 cups torn salad greens
1 cup each thin strips cooked tongue, Swiss Cheese, cheddar cheese, raw carrot
4 slices ham
1 tomato
8 radish roses
8 slices cucumber
2 tablespoons sour cream

Place greens in large salad bowl; arrange tongue, cheese and carrot in sections on top of greens. Garnish with ham rolls, tomato wedges, radish roses, cucumber slices and sour cream. To serve, place ham rolls on salad plates; toss remaining salad with French or Italian dressing. Makes four servings.

A Treat for Patio Nibblers

Beat one 8-ounce package softened cream cheese with 1 can condensed black bean soup until smooth. Gradually add tablespoons grated onion, a dash each of "Tabasco" sauce and garlic powder, blend thoroughly. Chill. Makes about 2¼ cups of "dunk" that teen-agers relish. Serve with corn curls or potato chips.

Consomme Can Be Handy

Keep a few cans of consomme in the refrigerator for days when it's just too hot to be true. Then spoon this refreshing jellied soup into chilled bowls. Garnish with one of the following: Sour cream, lemon or lime, grated orange rind, olives, diced crisp vegetables, chopped parsley, chives or mint. It's great for breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Bobby Freeman Packs 'Em in Club and Freeway

THE PENINSULA really came to life, last Tuesday night, when thousands of excited fun-seeking fans visited the HILTON INN'S wild TIGER-A-GO-GO CLUB to hear popular rock 'n roll singer BOBBY FREEMAN belt out a few of his hit numbers. Traffic was so heavy on Bayhore Freeway at the San Francisco Airport entrance that RONNY DOUGLAS and THE ASCOTS, who are accompanying Bobby here, had to leave their own car on the Freeway and walk the last half mile, carrying their instruments, to get there on time for the opening number. Rated by many as one of the most successful operations of its kind in America, the Tiger-A-Go-Go was originated by former Madison Avenue advertising executive, BILL GILBERT, and is managed by the very personable and capable DON RYAN, whose main job is seeing that all 25 of the beautifully-endowed Tiger Kittens show up on time and in uniform, which is an abbreviated tiger-skin, with hair worn a la Brigitte Bardot.

THE MAPES A GO-GO opened in the Sky Room of the Reno MAPES HOTEL, this month. Owner CHARLES MAPES brought the first authentic discotheque to the Reno area with his new Sky Room presentation. Headlining in the remodeled room is pert JOANIE SANNES, the "Original GoGo Girl." . . . JOHNNY ALADDIN and TAKI follow the great STAN KENTON in the TIN PAN ALLEY, Redwood City. This act is something new to show business. Quote VARIETY: "Aladdin has the freshest twist around. He works with audience members, starting slowly and building to a smash solid hit. Participants find their hands, heads, and feet stuck to the floor, to each other, or any place Aladdin suggests, and they can't move. Reactions can be hilarious to the spectors." You'll have to see this! . . . The BRENTWOOD LODGE, plus a remodeled look, is open and serving. Am looking forward to one of their delicious full course dinners—with prime rib in mind.

WELL, SURE ENOUGH, LEW LEHR DID WIN a prize in the NUGGET CLASSIC golf tournament sponsored by JOHN ASCUAGA'S NUGGET in Sparks, East Reno. Lew's foursome won low net one of the days and Lew's shooting was responsible. He won a "Survival" kit that he's proudly displaying at his Marina steak house. . . . A dining concept, completely new to the Reno area, is now in operation with the unveiling of HARRAH'S new GRAND BUFFET in downtown Reno. The new restaurant, which will seat 284 persons, features lunch, 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; dinner, 5:30 to 11:30 p.m.; a pre-dawn buffet, 11:30 p.m. to 6 a.m.; as well as Saturday and Sunday brunch, 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The Grand Buffet is located on the site of the old Grand Cafe, a Reno food landmark operated by the Petrinovich family for over 50 years. Food Manager BILL EBERSOL described the new restaurant as "probably the most beautiful dining facility in this part of the country."

CLIFF CHALET'S DANNY HOUNTALAS went to the research department of the library—in search of historical information on Seal Rocks. The reference librarian informed him that Seal Rocks is not the correct name—Arch Rock, Hermit Rock and Repose Rock IS! With that "rocky" start, Danny thought it best to postpone the research project for awhile. . . . MISS POLLY BERGEN brought a star-packed show into HOTEL THUNDERBIRD, Las Vegas, Tuesday evening, when she opened a month-long engagement in the Hotel's Main Showroom. She follows the popular singing-comedy duo of PAT BOONE and FRANK GORSHIN, who attracted capacity audiences every night during their two-week stay. The POLLY BERGEN SHOW will run through August 9. . . . Are you under the impression that there's a lull in the nitery business? Don't you believe it! The waiting line to see shows at the North Beach FINOCCHIO'S forms to the right any night of the week.

DINNER-DANCING AT THE HYATT HOUSE is habit forming! Even those who don't dance find themselves tapping a fast foot to the delightful tunes of BOB WELLMAN and HIS ORCHESTRA. . . . LA TOURAINE, popular little restaurant in Burlingame, features the cuisine of France with food so delicious that people come from miles around for luncheon and dinner. MARTIN O'CONNOR, Vatican representative for the Pope during the recent 20th anniversary sessions of the United Nations, came all the way from San Francisco to dine at La Touraine. Modest prices are the order of the day, coupled with one of the most complete menus in the Bay Area. . . . You've probably enjoyed Cannelloni in the past. But in the future, suggest you visit BERTOLUCCI'S for some of MOM BERTOLUCCI'S Cannelloni—'tis great!. . . . Summer has arrived at the BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL—especially around the flower-garden swimming pool (for guests only). The bevy of air line hostesses sunning and swimming reminds one of an Atlantic City beauty scene. . .

GORDON AND SHEILA MACRAE, indisputably one of the top husband-wife duos in show business today, open their reprise at JOHN ASCUAGA'S NUGGET, Sparks, (East Reno), Thursday, July 22. EDDIE PEABODY, king of the banjo, will fill the second spot in the three week billing. While Gordon gives forth with his strong baritone voice, Sheila delights audiences with her remarkably accurate and amusing impressions of personalities of the entertainment world. The Nugget's amazing elephants, BERTHA AND TINA, presented by C. J. Madison and assisted by DIANE OLSON will round out the bill. . . . What's the best way for an out-of-town visitor to see the glitter of Nevada? Many have enjoyed a pleasant side-trip via RENO 7-11 BUSES. With a phone call, you can make arrangements to ride on the escorted mid-week or week end junkets to Reno. The $21 cost includes motel, transportation and an $11 refund package at the NUGGET. Departures are from a convenient downtown S. F. location, HOTEL MAURICE,

George Mardikian's Experiences Are Most Interesting

There are few people, indeed, who have the opportunity to turn down an invitation to dine with a President of the United States. But this is just what happened to George Mardikian some years ago when he was invited to dine with Ike and Mamie Eisenhower.

"I had a previous speaking engagement with a large group of Boy Scouts," said the kindly Mr. Mardikian, "and the President graciously allowed me to change the invitation to a later date."

My visits with Mr. Mardikian, owner of the world famed Omar Khayyam's restaurant, are most interesting as he unfolds refreshing experiences of the past and present.

Planning to vacation at home? How about treating yourself to a seaside fun spree out Pacifica way—overnight accommodations at the Sea Breeze Motel, and breakfast, luncheon or dinner at the Turtle or Nick's restaurants.

Exposition Fish Grotto Hums

This is the season when San Francisco fairly hums with tourists and excitement. One of the most sought-out sea food restaurants is Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto, a world famous Fisherman's Wharf landmark.

Phil Lehr is a "branching out" guy. He's building a new Wellington Room adjoining his downtown Steakery in S. F., which will double his capacity, and also erecting the Reno Riviera Motel in downtown Reno on the Truckee River. Latter set for an early August opener.

Carl Fasolo, manager of Kings Table, reported that all restaurant records were shattered last month — with "Steak-orama Nite" (Monday) being one of the most popular with the dine outers.

Sinaloa Revue One of the Best

Aidee and Raul Roquet, currently featured at the Powell Street Sinaloa, are proving a big hit—especially when they play and sing "Granada," one of the cantina's most requested tunes.

Paul's solo playing of the "St. Louis Blues" well rates television exposure.

Balance of the summer version of "Holiday In Mexico" includes Olga and Juan El Mago, a versatile vocal duo; Clarita, exotic dancer whose exciting dance routines are cause for much applause, and Mario and Feliza, who feature the country dances of old Mexico.

This is one of the Sinaloa's best revues and one your out-of-town guests will want to tell their folks back home about.

New menus, new entertainment programs, and many special plans for those seeking banquet accommodations (from 12 persons to 1,200.

If you peek in before going in the Gourmet Table and see a waiting line, don't let that upset you 'cause there's seldom a wait of five or 10 minutes. Service here is exceptional!

Free Pillows For Barney's Bus Passengers

Here's good news for the "Bus Set": Barney's Casino, Lake Tahoe (South Shore), has increased the 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. Greyhound Bus refund to $4 from San Francisco and Oakland.

In addition, Barney's now furnishes his bus passengers with comfortable pillows (free of charge) for short napping while en route to Stateline, Nevada.

A FREE "Dealers Breakfast" also awaits the 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. "fun-seekers" on arrival at Barney's Casino, plus free coffee 24-hours a day.

Greyhound Bus departures to Barney's from the San Francisco and Oakland depots seven days a week; direct express.

Sunday Brunch Is Big Success

Phil Rauscher, general manager of the International Inn Restaurant, South San Francisco, reported a gala turnout for last Sunday's "Champagne Brunch" — with many diners taking advantage of the restaurant's new policy of mailing 15 per cent of the total brunch check to a designated charity. This original idea of Mr. Rauscher's is a goodie—and so is the brunch!

That was Chuck Herschler giving a sales pitch at Ron Giannotti's Surf House, Tuesday evening. Chuck selected a rocking chair in the cocktail lounge for his client. After all, how can you say "no" when you're rocking to and fro in a "yes" motion.

S.S.F. Has Two Beauty Queens Now

South San Francisco is the only Peninsula city with two official beauty representatives, a queen and a maid.

How this came about is a complex series of coincidences and counter-charges, it was pointed out this week.

It all began when the South San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce (which has staged most of the contests to pick the city queen, who then competes for the Fiesta Dream Girl contest) this year requested permission of the Fiesta to also allow the girl to run for the Miss California contest. (Junior chambers traditionally sponsor the Miss California entries).

The fair officials declined on the grounds that if Miss South San Francisco had won the Dream Girl title she would be under contract to the fair for a year and could not vie for the Miss California title in 1966.

The Junior Chamber replied by pointing out that the San Mateo Dream Girl of last year, Georginia Hillerby, ran on April 12 and was crowned Miss San Mateo County and then was first runner-up at Santa Cruz for Miss California while still carrying the Dream Girl title.

The fair was adamant, however, so the Junior Chamber staged its Miss South San Francisco contest on May 30 and selected Dixine Gillespie as official queen of the city to reign for a year and be eligible to compete as Miss California presumably in 1966.

The chamber then selected another contstant in the same contest, Sandy Cortez, as "Maid of South San Francisco" to represent the city in the Fiesta Dream Girl contest on Thursday night, but she cannot be called Miss South San Francisco.

Man Arrested For Exposure

South San Francisco police Monday arrested Louis Grant Marsh, 24, of Pacifica, on charges of indecent exposure.

Marsh was identified by a San Bruno housewife as the man who exposed himself to her while standing in the traffic island centering Junipero Serra Boulevard.

The San Bruno woman was the latest among a series of complainants who have reported seeing a man apparently deliberately partially unclothe himself in the Junipero Serra divider strip while facing oncoming cars with women drivers.

Once again there will be a great variety of leagues for all bowlers.

Town Hall Association Assails Re-Assessments

Town Hall Association, with 1,000 members the largest taxpayer organization in San Mateo County, added its criticism yesterday to the flood of complaints about Assessor Ralph E. Woodman's property assessment program.

Association President Richard W. Wilson, in a letter to the board of supervisors, questioned the "propriety and the necessity" of the program.

Wilson urged the board to follow through with its request for a blanket reduction in assessment rates so that San Mateo County property will not be assessed above the state average.

At the same time, Town Hall dispatched letters to the mayor of every city and the governing boards of every school district in the county, urging budget economies and warning that they should not take advantage of the higher assessments as a windfall to build up reserve funds.

The letter to the board of supervisors states:

"After thorough study, Town Hall Association questions the propriety and the necessity of raising the assessed valuation of real property in the manner recently adopted by Ralph Woodman.

"We hold that in this action the assessor, in setting the assessed valuation of real property at 25 per cent of market value, failed to take into proper consideration the consequences of such determination to the welfare of the individual taxpayer he represents, even though the action is probably legally permissible.

"Your recent pronouncement relative to seeking co-operation of the State Board of Equalization in reducing the assessed valuation to the state average would indicate that you concur in this conclusion.

"We should like to point up the ever-growing concern on the part of the taxpayer over the stultifying effect that increased taxes have on his own desire to live in a responsible way in his community. The responsible individual will adopt a sensible budget, based on his probable income. He will then attempt to live within this budget. This procedure should be the goal of every responsible body of government."
